Eldon & Ann Whitford

The Whitfords are a husband and wife duo who have been playing music together since the 1960's. With dazzling instrumental work and tight harmonies, they take listeners back to a time when the music folks listened to came from the kitchen, the church, the dance hall, or a floor model Philco radio.

THIS IS TOE-TAPPIN', SING-ALONG MUSIC -NO MISTAKING IT!!

Let The Whitfords take you back .....to a time when everything, including music, was less cluttered and more genuine. A time when music, like many other things in life, was largely self-made. The Whitfords perform vintage country music, covering a wide range of American rural styles.

While they play in Michigan and the Midwest most of the year, each winter The Whitfords head for warmer areas. From January through April you can hear them on their musical tour of Texas, New Mexico, Missouri and Oklahoma, often with a House Concert stop in Champaign, Illinois.

Reviews --

"For the past 5 years, The Whitfords have performed at the Otto-Shenk House Concert, stopping on their way back from Big Bend, Texas, where they perform six days a week at their favorite haunt, the Hallie Stillwell Hall of Fame Museum, just outside of Big Bend National Park. At the concert, Eldon played Gibson acoustic guitars and Ann played the upright bass, one that is bigger than she is. Eldon is a most excellent guitarist; versatile with a nice dynamic range." Melissa Merlie, Arts Writer, The News Gazette in Champaign-Urbana, IL

"Everyone had a great time at the 2009 Winter Texan Expo, especially when The Whitfords hit the stage. If you love vintage country music, you will love The Whitfords!" Holly Smith, Winter Texan Expo

"While their covers of well-known recordings show a passionate reverence for the country/folk traditions, The Whitfords always put their own mark on their songs, making them uniquely their own." David Vinopal, Author/Music Historian

Deadwood Dan comes to Triple Creek

Dan Tanner is the chain saw carver that now calls Triple Creek home.

If you look around the park, you will see many examples of Dan's beautiful wood work. Inside the Jam Shack, we have the wooden Indian that Marc always wanted. FYI, he will soon be joined by the Indian Maiden, but that is just another addition that will be made.

If you look around the park, you will see two tree trunks that are each over 11 foot tall that Dan has carved. Chainsaw carvings, is taken to an art form ... from handcrafted, authentic chain saw carving of bears, dogs, eagles poles and a myriad of other subjects, to unique signature piece furniture & sculpture. Dan is primarily a chainsaw carver, but the chain saw is only the first tool used in this exciting carving process. He also uses chisels, knives & various other power tools until the desired result to please both the customer & myself is achieved. From whimsical to stylized to realistic, an ordinary piece of firewood is transformed into something that will evoke an emotion within you. Whether it is a smile, or awe at the power and majesty of many of God's creations

Here are the proud owners of Blueridge products that are played at Triple Creek.

As our friend Darrell Segura says,
"If it ain't Blueridge, it ain't Bluegrass"

Tommy & Triple Creek Church services

Winter Texans return to Triple Creek!

Well, it may be January, but the bulk of the Winter Texans have returned to Triple Creek. Of course we all know what this means, and that is MORE music! If you can take it, more musicians in the park means MORE music being played for MORE hours of the day and night. This is a fun time of year when all our winter family fills the Jam Shack playing music and telling stories as we sit around the fire.
